GEN. MAURICE'S LETTER MAY BRING CRISIS

Charges of Inaccuracy Involving Lloyd-George and Law Cause Sensation

TO INVESTIGATE

Government Summons Supporters to Attend Session of House Thursday

LONDON.—One of the sensations of the war has been developed by the publication of a letter by Gen. F. B. Maurice, deposed director of military operations in the war office, charging that the government has misled the public with regard to the conduct of the war and the strength of Field Marshal Haig's forces.

As a result of these charges, published in the morning papers, former Premier Asquith has given notice that he will move for the appointment of a committee from the house of commons to investigate the Maurice affair, instead of leaving the matter to two judges, constituting a court of honor, as proposed by Andrew Bonar Law.

Gen. Maurice, it is indicated from government sources, has made himself liable to disciplinary action by the military authorities. At the same time the press declares the charges are so serious as to warrant a searching parliamentary inquiry.

Hits Their Veracity

The letter charges Bonar Law and Premier Lloyd George with having made misstatements in the house of commons with reference to military matters, and says they are the latest in a series recently made by the government in parliament.

Gen. Maurice recalls that Mr. Bonar Law, while answering questions in the house of commons on April 20, said the extension of the British front in France was not dealt with by the Versailles war council, and he asserts that the chancellor of the exchequer's statement is incorrect.

"I was at Versailles," he declares, "when the question was decided by the council, to which it had been referred."

Attacks Lloyd George

Gen. Maurice then traverses Premier Lloyd George's assertion on April 9 that the British army in France was considerably stronger on Jan. 1, 1918, than it was on Jan. 1, 1917, adding:

"That statement implies that Haig's fighting strength on the eve of the battle beginning March 21 had not been diminished. That is not correct."

Gen. Maurice also denies the truth of Premier Lloyd George's assertion that there was only one white division in Mesopotamia and only three white divisions in Egypt and Palestine.

The former director of military operations forestalls the possible charge that he is engaged in military controversy, and says he has not the least desire to see the government in the hands of soldiers.

Gives His Reasons

"My reasons for taking the very unusual step of writing this letter," he says, "are that the statements referred to are known by a large number of soldiers to be incorrect, and that this knowledge is breeding such distrust of the government as can only end in impairing the splendid morale of our troops at a time when everything possible should be done to raise it.

"I have therefore decided, fully realizing the consequences to myself, that my duty as a citizen must override my duty as a soldier, and I ask you to republish this letter in the hope that parliament will order an investigation of the statements I have made."

The government has issued a summons to its supporters requesting their attendance in the house of commons on Thursday when "Mr. Asquith will move a resolution which, if carried, will be a vote of censure on the government."

"A division is absolutely certain," says the call.

It is likely the premier will give to the house the fullest possible information consistent with public safety, citing figures in proof of his statement of the relative strength of the army in January, 1917, and January, 1918. As regards other matters involved in the statement of General Maurice, it is understood an explanation perfectly consistent with both versions will be made.

AMERICANS FIGHT LIKE HEROES; OUTNUMBERED AT LEAST FOUR TO ONE

(By the Associated Press)

AN ATLANTIC PORT—Dr. William T. Ellis of Swarthmore, Penn., who arrived here last night on a French liner, described the fighting three weeks ago in the American sector at Apremont, northwest of Toul, which he witnessed.

"Our boys fought like heroes," he declared, "although they were outnumbered four to one. I saw one soldier, a Greek by birth, who had joined the army in New York. His rifle was shot from his hands, but he drew a knife, leaped forward and killed a German lieutenant. The Americans never gave an inch and always drove the enemy back. They did not lose a prisoner, but captured three truckloads of the enemy.

"If I had not been on the spot I would not believe some of the instances of bravery—motion picture stuff you might call it. One captain from Boston, who was a drygoods merchant at home, was in the trench when German sappers started to move forward, preparatory to a raid.

"This captain ripped off his shoulder straps to prevent identification by the Germans and seized a rifle. 'To hell with the saps,' he shouted to his men, and went over the top in the lead.

"Well, they captured that German trench and came back with prisoners, the captain being unharmed."

U. S. AGENT TO BE EXPELLED FROM MEXICO?

Reports Say Carranza Government Will Force Representative to Leave

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Unofficial advices received here tell of an order for the expulsion from Mexico by the Carranza government of Robert H. Murray, the representative of the committee on public information in Mexico City who, in that capacity, has been in charge of the work conducted by the American government to offset German propaganda.

At the same time the unofficial advices say, one of the correspondents of the Associated Press in Mexico City, W. E. Weigand, was also ordered to leave.

The expulsion of both men, it is said, was ordered under the thirty third section of the Mexican constitution which provides for the summary deportation of "pernicious foreigners" without trial or hearing.

When it was determined to take steps to properly inform Mexicans of the attitude of the United States in the war and thus attack the German propaganda in Mexico, which for months has been described as rampant, Murray was selected by the committee on public information to carry on its work. An order for his expulsion is taken to substantiate recent reports that the German propaganda had again gained the upper hand in Mexican official circles.

U. S. FLIER SENT TO EARTH BY ENEMY

Capt. James Hall Believed to Have Been Killed in Airplane Battle

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE (Tuesday)—After a thrilling battle with enemy airplanes ten miles north of Pont-a-Mousson, Captain James Norman Hall, one of the leading American aviators, made a spiral dive for the earth and was last seen close to the ground apparently trying to land. His fate is unknown.

Captain Hall, with two others, was patrolling between St. Mihiel and Pont-a-Mousson. When they were over Pagny-Sur-Moselle, four enemy Albatross airplanes, painted with black and white stripes, were seen.

The Americans attacked, Captain Hall singling out one of the enemy and driving him downward while firing with his machine gun. The pair made a spiral dive from 6,000 to 4,000 meters when the German suddenly started to rise. In a quick turn, he poured a stream of machine gun bullets into the bottom of Hall's machine. Captain Hall promptly came out of the spiral and made a dive for the earth. He was last seen attempting to complete this maneuver.

In the meanwhile the enemy machines that the other Americans had engaged dropped toward the ground. It is unknown what happened to them, but two of them apparently were in distress. No credit for a victory is given the Americans, because official verification of the destruction of the enemy was impossible.

U. S. GRAIN SHIPS DEFY GERMAN SUBMARINES

Carry Food Supplies to Switzerland Under Heavy Guard

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — In defiance of the German submarines the United States is sending grain to Switzerland aboard armed ships under heavy naval convoys prepared to fight their way through the danger zones. Two grain ships left an Atlantic port some time ago, two more sailed last week and others will go soon.

The decision to supply Switzerland without awaiting the expiration of the three months' time limit set by Germany for notifying her submarine commanders that vessels carrying the supplies must not be molested, was made owing to the critical food situation in the republic.

A supply of grain was set apart for Switzerland some months ago.

Under the German safe conduct arrangement the grain ships were to fly both the American and the Swiss flags touching only at Cette, the French port turned over to the Swiss. When the Germans refused to guarantee safe conduct until three months' time had elapsed the United States decided to send the vessels forward flying only the American flag and touching at any convenient French port.

PLAN SYSTEM FOR ALLIED CREDITS

Treasury Official Reports Findings on Return From Europe

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A report on the future financial needs of the allies was presented to the treasury today by Oscar T. Crosby, president, and American member of the inter-allied council on finance and purchases, on his return from Europe where he has been since last September.

Mr. Crosby, who is still assistant secretary of the treasury, will assist in working out a plan of extending greater credits direct to France, Italy, and other co-belligerents instead of through Great Britain. This will relieve Great Britain of borrowing from the United States approximately the sums required for British loans to the allies.

The financial branch of the council was organized in Paris about five months ago and consists of representatives of the principal allied governments. It has acted as a board of priority for American loans.

New contracts were substituted on a flat basis of $960,000 for each ship.

Cost plus contracts at the Hog Island and Bristol, Pa., government yards were continued, Mr. Schwab said. The substitution for the Newark Bay yard was designed to speed up construction, which, it is said, is far behind schedule.

TITTEMORE IS HERE; FARMERS BOOST PLANS

Candidate for Governor Receives Letter From Herbert Quick

J. N. Tittemore, candidate of the recent farmers' conference for governor, is in the city today. He has just returned from a trip through the state addressing farmers' meetings.

"I find a great deal of sentiment favorable to the work of the conference," he said. "The farmers realize that they will have to take matters into their own hands in order to get results and they are no longer going to be satisfied with promises from candidates."

Headquarters for the campaign will be opened in both Madison and Milwaukee. F. E. Davidson, Milwaukee, will be in charge of the headquarters in Milwaukee. A campaign committee will also be named.

Mr. Tittemore is in receipt of the following letter from Herbert Quick of the farm loan board at Washington:

I am very glad indeed to read in the newspapers that you have been nominated for Governor of Wisconsin, and I wish you success. I am especially interested in that part of the dispatch which says that your platform demands "a more elastic constitution."

The constitution of every state should represent that body of laws which the people have agreed upon as beyond the reach of the legislature; but it should be just as easily amended as any other law. Government by our forefathers through a rigid constitution is not democracy.

If you are elected Governor of Wisconsin I know that you will make one of the best Governors the state ever had.

LUXBURG SAILS SAIL FOR HOME

Former German Minister to Argentine Leaves Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES—Count von Luxburg, former German minister to Argentina, who was dismissed by the Argentine government last fall because of his notorious "spurlos versenkt" message and other activities objectionable to Argentina, is finally about to sail for home. Ill health and various complications regarding arrangements for his voyage had caused his departure to be postponed several times.

It is now announced that Count von Luxburg, under an allied safe conduct, will sail tomorrow for Sweden on board the Swedish motor steamer Suecia. Dr. Perl, former German minister to Peru, who was handed his passports by the Peruvian government when it severed relations with Germany last autumn, will sail on the same steamer, as will the German charge d'affaires at Montevideo, completing the exodus of German diplomats from the South American republics, which have broken with Berlin.

I. W. W. FINANCES BEFORE U. S. COURT

Reports Show Receipt Increases After America Entered Struggle

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — Additional financial reports of branches of the Industrial Workers of the World showing sharp increases in receipts soon after America entered the war were submitted by the government today in the trial of 112 leaders of the organization for alleged violation of the espionage act.

Only a part of the I. W. W. disbursements during the period of the alleged anti-war campaign was shown by the reports submitted by R. M. Bailey, expert accountant for the government.

The government expected to take up the question of sabotage, or direct action, by which the I. W. W. aimed "to revolutionize industries and the social ssytems," after conclusion of testimony on financial reports late today. Photographs showing destruction of property by members of the organization where exhorbitant demands upon employers had been denied were among the evidence on hand.

It is alleged that by the practice of sabotage and by opposing the selective service act the defendants tried to disrupt the nation's war program.

LAKE RESORT SEASON OPENS

Dance at Esther Beach Thursday and Bernard Park Friday

The dancing season across the lakes will open this week with the first one to be given at Esther Beach Thursday evening. The second dance will be held Friday evening. Beginning the next week and continuing throughout the summer regular dances will be held Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturdays nights. Boats will leave the Angleworm station at 8:15.

Bernard's park, across Lake Mendota will be opened to the university dancers Friday evening with the second dance Saturday evening. The regular dances for the Madison people will be opened in a week or two. Boats will leave the university pier at 8 and 8:30 p. m. The Bernard boats have not as yet been launched in the water but they are promised to be in good shape in time for the first dance, unless the weather again interferes.

The first week of May brought out the summer picnickers and campers who took advantage of the sunshine in getting located in their cottages across the lake. As yet the summer camps around the lakes look rather barren but a few early arrivals who have been venturing out during the past two weeks are putting a touch of life on the scene.

Picnic crowds, especially hiking picnics, were numerous over the week end, with the Assembly grounds, Sunset point, and Picnic point holding their usual popularity. A new kind of war time picnic which is just coming into popularity is the family gathering at the town farm, or in other words the war garden located at some far end of town. After father has worked all day planting potatoes and such, the approach of the "home folks" with loaded baskets is a most welcome sight. At other times the whole family goes out to the garden at supper time, finds a green spot around some corner, eats the basketful of picnic eats, and then everyone works until dark.

WAR SUMMARY

(By the Associated Press)

Along the battle lines in northern France the allied troops still await the shock of renewed heavy fighting by the Germans. Apparently the rainy weather has interfered a great deal with the enemy's transport and he has not been able to perfect his arrangements because of the difficulties of bringing up his supplies.

Having gained some advantageous positions in local fighting, the allies are waiting for the next effort of the Germans, which already has been delayed much longer than in previous lulls since the beginning of the offensive on March 21. Meanwhile, fresh troops and new supplies are pouring in to strengthen the allied positions and this fact must also aid to the perturbation of the enemy who has nothing remarkable in military achievements to show for his heavy losses of the past seven weeks.

The artillery fire continues violent on important sectors. The Germans are shelling heavily the Anglo-French front southwest of Ypres and the sector south of the Somme between Villers-Bretonneux and Hailles. These sectors saw the heavy fighting previous to the German repulse north of Mont Kemmel nine days ago. Enemy fire against the southern side of the Arras sector, which lies north of Albert, also has been intense.

There has been great aerial activity on the American sector northwest of Toul and Captain James Norman Hall, well known as a flyer in the French and American armies, is reported missing after a battle in which he and two other Americans engaged four Germans. Two of the enemy airplanes are believed to have been brought down. Other American also have been meeting the enemy in the air along the line east of St. Mihiel and it is believed the Germans have concentrated large forces in an attempt to wipe out the American flyers. There has been no infantry fighting on any of the American sectors.

Except for fruitless patrol raids by the Austrians and limited artillery fire, there has been no activity on the Italian front.

A political crisis involving the security of the Lloyd-George government has arisen in Great Britain over the letter written by General Maurice, formerly chief director of military operations, in which he questioned the veracity of the premier and the chancellor of the exchequer. In the house of commons a parliamentary tilt between Andrew Bonar Law, for the government, and former Premier Asquith resulted in the government's acceptance of a motion by Mr. Asquith that the house discuss the form of inquiry to be made into the statements of General Maurice.

The motion will be debated in the house Thursday and the government has decided to stand or fall on the vote taken after the discussion. The government looks upon the motion as a vote of censure and has called its supporters to be in the house for a vote tomorrow.

WILL FURNISH POTATO STOCK

State Council of Defense Announces New Aid to Farmers of State

The State Council of Defense today announced its readiness to furnish, certified potato seed stock, mostly Rural New Yorkers and Green Mountains, at the nominal price of $1.50 per hundred to all buyers who order this seed within one week.

The marketing agent of the Council, who has been visiting the potato centers of the State, notified Chairman Magnus Swenson today that these potatoes, which are officially certified as free from scab and all diseases, can be purchased, sacked and delivered at southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois points, at this price.

Farmers, truck gardeners, merchants, seed dealers and commercial clubs are urged to order in car load lots. The Council calls attention to the fact that every bushel of this seed means twenty bushels of fine potatoes next fall.

In the spring of 1917 certified seed potatoes selling as high as $3.00. In spite of the fact a large acreage was planted and it is hoped that with the opportunity of securing seed at such a nominal price the 1918 potato crop will be even larger.

Orders must reach the State Council of Defense within one week to insure delivery.

The Capital Times is made for those who pay 10 cents a week for it.

ENGINEERS NEEDED IN COLLEGES

Lack of Trained Men is Becoming Serious, Students Are Told

Because the war has taken engineers from colleges of the country until the lack has become serious, the government may soon order all enlisted engineers back to college for the completion of their courses, was the prediction of J. E. Saugstad, instructor in the School of Music at the University, and recently commissioned ensign in the naval reserve, in a talk to mechanical and electrical engineers in the auditorium of the Engineering building Tuesday.

Ensign Saugstad is in charge of the northwestern district, with the particular duty of enlisting engineering students in the engineers' or the naval reserve and holding them in college until they have completed their courses.

"The engineer can best serve his country by remaining in college until he is thoroughly prepared for his work," declared Ensign Saugstad. "Ships and soldiers will not move across the Atlantic until the engineers move, and we must have trained men to man the increased number of ships which will begin to come out by August 1."

Smith, county highway commissioner, who will leave with the selectmen of District No. 1 on May 25, for Camp Grant. Mr. Smith has not sent in his resignation as yet, but it is believed that should he do so, the county board at its first session in June, will grant him a leave of absence, which has been the custom of other public bodies in Dane county.

SCHOOL BOARD GETS DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Martin Souders of Milton, Mass., Will Succeed C. A. Crispin

Martin F. Souders, Milton, Mass., was elected director of physical training to succeed C. A. Crispin by the school board at its meeting Tuesday night. This action was taken after it was announced by Superintendent of Schools R. B. Dudgeon and Principal Voyta Wrabetz that they had heard Mr. Crispin would not return from France where he is doing welfare work among the soldiers.

Mr. Souders will begin his duties at the opening of the fall term in September. The salary is $2,000. He is 26 years old and was graduated from the Kansas state college of agriculture in 1914, and from the Springfield, Mass., training school in 1916. Since his graduation from the Springfield institution he has acted as director of physical training of the public schools of Milton, Mass.

Action on new quarters for nurses was deferred until the resignation of Dr. L. H. Prince, who leaves for Sparta to become superintendent of the school for dependent children, has been received. The nurses will be quartered in one of the school board's houses until a successor for Dr. Prince has been elected.

Dr. L. B. Wolfenson, member of the committee on courses of study, proposed a four year course in French in the high schools. Because of the absence of Dr. Victor Lenher, who is said to be opposed to the plan, the matter will not be taken up until the semi-monthly meeting of the board. Dr. Lenher is engaged in war work at Washington.

Alderman F. W. Lucas was appointed a member of the medical committee in place of Dr. Lenher and Dr. Wolfenson was appointed as acting chairman. Dr. Wolfenson will also act as chairman of the medical committee. W. H. Collins was also appointed a member of the committee.

The building committee was directed to secure bids on the cost of removing the four shacks which stood on the site of the Longfellow school. It is proposed to use one each on the Marquette grounds, Sixth ward, Girstenbrel site on the east end, Draper grounds in the Fifth ward and in the Wingra plat.

Mayor Sayle, chairman of the building committee, announced that the new Longfellow school will be ready for occupancy in a short time. The board decided not to accept the school until it is entirely completed.

The request of the superintendents for the eastern and western districts for the use of the high school auditorium for the annual graduation exercises on June 7, was granted by the board. The request of the Lutheran churches to conduct religious school in the high school during the summer months was refused.

SWENSON SENDS OUT UKASE ON USE OF SUGAR

Food Administration Head Issues Formal Order Limiting Amounts to be Used

To curtail sugar supply of Wisconsin, Magnus Swenson, federal food agent, has issued an order effective May 15, outlining the administration of the law. The persons put on the sugar ration are hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, wholesale and retail dealers in sugar, bakers, cracker manufacturers and persons manufacturing food stuffs, such as jelly, confectionary, chewing gum, etc. The rules also hit ice cream parlors that sell sherbets, a large number of these establishments have had their supply cut down to 8 per cent.

"The method of calculation will be based on the manufacturers performance for the first four months of 1918, January, February, March and April," said A. J. Melville, secretary of the food administration. "An average for the sugar used for these four months will be taken and then eighty per cent or fifty per cent of this average as the case may be will represent the quota the manufacturers are entitled to.

"The Food Administration is very anxious to conserve sugar in every way possible permitting its normal use for medicines, meats, milks, vegetables, fruits and ice cream, and especially for the coming canning season. It is anxious to stop any increase of sugar in the manufacture of confectionery and soft drinks."

DECIDES TO BE A LIVE ONE

Young Man Gets Next to Himself

One of our young men sure has come to the front in short order and his friends are at a loss to understand his untiring energy and ability to work and get results, where only a few weeks before he seemed to be all run down and almost a nervous wreck.

Questioned by a curious friend as to the cause of the sudden change, he said: "I sure was in bad shape and no one knew it better than I did. It had got my goat for fair. I was all in and my nerves shot to pieces with worriment and sleepless nights. One day I overheard a customer telling what Phosphated Iron had done for him and I could not get a supply quick enough. That's the whole story, just Phosphated Iron. My poor tired overworked nerves just seemed to be Phosphate hungry, the way they took hold of it, and say, what a relief. I felt like a new man. Could sleep at night, and get up in the morning feeling like a two-year-old. Believe me, I had some appetite too, my weight increased rapidly, my face filled out and had the color of perfect health that only goes with pure blood, well fed with iron.

"You can bet I am strong for Phosphated Iron. Everyone who tries it is a booster.

"Do you know even the doctors are prescribing it; trust them to get next to a good thing, they were not long wising up to Phosphated Iron."

To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow the dealers to substitute pills or tablets.—C. H. Naffz, 109 King street, and leading druggists everywhere.

UNCLE SAM'S MEDALS FOR HEROES

The medal of honor (left) and the distinguished service cross.

The medal of honor is the highest award of the United States government. It is presented in the name of congress for distinguished gallantry in battle or for heroism of an especially distinguished character not performed in the regular line of duty.

The distinguished service cross was recently authorized by order of the president. It is awarded to those who, since April 6, 1917, have distinguished themselves by extraordinary heroism in connection with the military operations against an armed enemy of the United States under circumstances which do not justify the medal of honor. One hundred of these crosses have been shipped to France. Since these have been struck off, however, it has been decided to leave off the oak leaves, making the cross plain.

These medals, with their representative values, have their counterparts in the Victoria cross and distinguished service order of Great Britain and the medal militaire and croix de guerre of France.

ARRESTED FOR BEATING WIFE

Andrew Nordness Held for Trial in Superior Court on Two Charges

When Andrew Nordners faced Judge A. C. Hoppmann in superior court Wednesday morning, he was charged with two separate offenses. That of assault and battery upon his wife and also that of operating an automobile while intoxicated. He pleaded not guilty to both charges and the cases were adjourned until May 9. Bail was set at $100 in the assault and battery case and $300 in the other case.

When Mrs. Nordners appeared in the office of the district attorney Tuesday afternoon and complained of her husband beating her, her face was swollen and the assault and battery warrant was issued.

When Undersheriff Krug went in search of the man, he learned that Nordners was out in his automobile. When arrested, it is alleged, Nordners was drunk and the undersheriff secured a warrant charging him with operating an automobile while intoxicated.

Waste and Extravagance

Are Germany's Silent Allies

They will help the kaiser. They will kill American soldiers.

Every bit of waste, every extravagance takes force from the power America must put into the war to win. Every penny spent for luxuries and unnecessary things is a penny lost to the production and purchase of food, clothing, supplies, ships and munitions for our soldiers.

As long as we spend wastefully, Germany will receive silent but powerful help from America; just so much farther away is the Day of Peace.

Don't spend thoughtlessly or unnecessarily. Save! With high wages and plenty of work for everyone, there never was such an opportunity to help yourself and help your country.

Save to help the Government. Lend your savings to your Country—

Buy War Savings Stamps

—and drive out the enemy's silent allies. Put your dimes and quarters, as well as your dollars, at work.

Every man, woman and child can buy War Savings Stamps—and keep buying them. Put all you can save into War Savings Stamps and watch your savings grow. They are a profitable, simple and secure investment. You'll never find a better road to Prosperity.

THE FARMER AS A PROFITEER

TO those who are inclined to look upon the farmer as basking in the emoluments of wealth arising out of the war we desire today to call their attention to the table in adjoining columns.

Wheat at $2.20 sounds like wealth. But, as has been frequently pointed out in these columns, the other side of the story has not been told. A survey of the accompanying table will show the manner in which the farmer is being held up on the necessities of the farm.

The farmer is compelled to buy largely in an unrestricted market. The prices on the things that he needs have not been fixed.

In addition to the table adjoining, the cost of farm help has been steadily increasing. The figures for Wisconsin as compiled by the Secretary of Agriculture are interesting. The cost of a farm laborer, with board, per month, in the last seven years follows:

1910—$26.
1916—$27.30.
1917—$36.

The cost of a farm laborer, without board, per month follows:

1910—$37.25.
1916—$43.80.
1917—$52.

These are figures that speak for themselves. It is significant that those who attempt to class the farmers as "profiteers" have no figures to substantiate their arguments.

MRS. COURTNEY

A FEW days ago a couple of dots and dashes came over the cable from Europe and anguish was brought to the heart of a Madison mother.

The message came that Frederick Courtney, seventeen years old, had given his life in the service of his country. Brave Frederick Courtney,—but it is to his mother that we want to pay just a word of tribute today.

War always lays the hand of sorrow heaviest on the mothers of the land. They are the REAL sufferers. They spend the sleepless nights. They hear the news with the greatest concern. They view defeats with the greatest apprehension and victories with the greatest joy.

Several years ago Mrs. Courtney's husband died and she was left with a family of small children and an encumbered home. Undaunted by the outlook, Mrs. Courtney courageously started out to fight misfortune. She learned a new line of work and engaged in business. With her income thus earned she has maintained her family and herself.

Just as her son was arriving at a stage in life where he could be of assistance to his mother his life is snapped out in a French hospital.

Frederick Courtney died a hero,—but let us not forget his mother. Hers is the real grief,—hers the real sorrow. Mrs. Courtney is left to fight life's battles,—a battle in which the odds have seemed to be unfairly against her. But what greater solace can there be for a mother than that she has given her son for her country. That is the great sacrifice. That will be the great comfort to Mrs. Courtney and the mothers of the land.

INVESTIGATION IS NEEDED

THE aeroplane, in modern warfare, is the eye of the army. The man who would send soldiers into modern battles without aeroplanes would send soldiers into battle blindfolded.

A year ago the federal government appropriated $640,000,000 for aeroplane construction.

Charges are now being made that this sum has been dissipated with only a nominal number of planes to show for it.

Washington, astounded at the revelations, is now demanding investigation and criminal proceedings.

A full and complete investigation should be made. The people of this country are entitled to the facts. And if the results show depredations of a criminal nature no punishment within the power of the government to inflict should be spared.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE.

The other day our little boy was very ill.
He said he felt queer all over, and, of course,
We were very much excited.
He had a temperature and a bad cough
We hastend to the telephone
And told the doctor to come over at once.
The doctor had a long way to come.
But he arrived in half an hour out of breath.
After he arrived we took him
Into the little boy's bedroom,
But the little boy wasn't there.
We looked for him high and low,
While the doctor waited and gnawed
His mustache and scowled.
Finally we found the boy over on the commons,
Two blocks from the house,
Behind a large pile of rocks, and
He was playing "kill the kaiser" by Throwing rocks at a Harlem goat.
He was having the time of his life.
And when we led him home by the ear
The doctor said there was nothing
The matter with him.
There is always something to learn about kids.
One of them is that they all enjoy
Poor health. They can be very ill one minute
And throwing stones at the kaiser the next.

It was the last car for the suburbs that night.
Suddenly there came the tinkle of a coin dropped on the floor of the car, and the benevolent old gentleman who was sitting in the corner seat leaned over and picked up something.
"Any one lost a $5 gold piece?" he asked.
Nine passengers searched through their pockets and announced that they had.
"It is dated 1896," said the finder.
The ranks of the losers were thinning. Four averred that their lost coin bore that date.
"And it is worn on one side," said the old man.
"Yes," glibly lied one passenger.
"Then here you are," beamed the old man, "Here's a nickel toward it."

The song goes to illustrate the entire uselessness of this particular form of human endeavor.

A poet tried to join the marine corps, so the story goes. He entered the recruiting office and said:
"My country calls
I wish to fight.
Tell me, kind sirs,
Am I in right?
I want to fight
And clear the sea
And make it safe
For democracy."
He went through the physical test room and when he came out they handed him a slip:
If you would fight there's one solution.
Please go out and get a constitution.
Poeting is such a sedentary life.

LYNCHINGS MAY BRING REPRISALS

Washington Post Calls Attention to Danger of Mob Rule

From Washington Post.

One sensible and effective method by which individual Americans can help their country is by keeping a quiet watch upon enemy aliens and by reporting suspicious cases to the Federal authorities, instead of indulging in public criticism of the governemnt for its "failure" to capture spies, plotters and bombers. A conspicuous example of foolish and injurious criticism of the government occurred the other day when a dollar-a-year patriot appeared before the Senate military committee and announced that 50,000 alien enemies in New York city had refused to be registered or have their finger prints taken. The fact is that not a single enemy alien has refused to have his finger p rints taken, for the simple reason that if he had refused he would have been interned forthwith. The Attorney General has announced that the registration of male enemy aliens in New York city has been completed and that the checking up process shows that the few who were overlooked have since been registered.

Nothing is easier than to magnify the spy peril. It is a difficult subject to handle, from this and many other aspects. The Department of Justice and the intelligence bureaus cannot reveal what they are doing to apprehend criminals and dangerous enemies. Thus these government agencies are peculiarly liable to the charge that they are negligent, blundering, or doing nothing at all. Acting against this vulnerable spot in the governmental machine, vindictive individuals have stirred up agitations which have resulted in the lynching of men whose disloyalty was at least questionable. The public is asked to believe that the government has broken down; that the country swarms with dangerous spies and conspirators, and then it is urged with some plausibility that the only safety lies in the organization of mobs which will summarily kill off suspects without trial.

The application of mob law to enemy aliens is pure madness and folly. It is anything but helpful to the nation in its fight against Germany. It tends to disorganize every effective effort to aid the American boys at the front. What will Germany do to American boys taken prisoner if Germans are lynched in the United States? Do the mobs realize what they are doing? Do they expect to be able to compete with Germany in savagery and hellishness? What mob leader who boasts that he has a boy at the front will be willing to have the Germans retaliate on his boy for the mob's action?

If the United States is capable of defeating Germany it is capable of handling enemy aliens at home. It is solely the government's duty to prevent crime by spies and traitors. The only manner in which individuals can give useful assistance is by furnishing information to the government. When individuals or communities take the law into their own hands they are doing much to bring down upon American soldiers the most horrible suffering and agonizing death.

There has been a lack of effective law to deal with enemy aliens. Recently the defect has been remedied in part by the enactment of the sabotage law, which enables the government to put behind bars for a maximum of 30 years any person who willfully injures or destroys any war material, war industry or war utility. The act is so broad that it can be made to stamp out every criminal alien in the country. The Department of Justice is undertaking the vigilant enforcement of the law throughout the country. When the passport bill becomes a law it will be possible to exercise a surveillance over suspects which is now impossible. The secret service bureaus are coordinating in personnel and exchange of information, so that the constant efforts of thousands of expert trailers will be concentrated upon the task of protecting the public and the war activities. The comparative absence of violence in war industry establishments is evidence that watchfulness is the rule rather than the exception. The heads of these plants no doubt are cooperating with government agents in supervising the persons who have access to the plants.

If there should appear dereliction of duty in the government agencies charged with the suppression of spies and dangerous aliens, there is a remedy in indignant public opinion and congressional exposure. The patriotic thing to do is to support the government in all its branches, including the agencies in question, and assist them in becoming more efficient. When an American community stoops to the lynchings of an individual, no matter what the charge against him may be, it turns toward anarchy and brutish folly, and invites from the enemy the most savage reprisals upon American lads who may fall into his hands.

WILL HAVE NO PARIS LEAVE.

George Patullo in Saturday Eevening Post.

One of the hardest problems with which the British have had to deal has been the protection of the men on leave. Transportation is so precious that the majority of the rank and file cannot obtain permission to go home; the best they can get is Paris leave.

In a city of its magnitude, where they have no authority over the civilian population, the British command has been helpless to take the care of the men it would like to take. About all they could do was to caution, and to provide counter attractions to the lures of the under world.

Here, as in every other phase of war activity, the American army has been able to profit by its Allies experience. Up to date, the problem has not been acute, because there will be no leaves granted until some of our forces have gone into the trenches. After they are in, the usual leave of a week or ten days will be given every four months to men of good record.

But it will not be Paris leave. The plan is to keep the boys away from the metropolis. The American army proposes to take over a city in the south of France, to which the soldiers may go, instead. That city will be under American control for this purpose. We shall have theaters running, with stock companies playing in English; movie palaces, recreation grounds, baseball fields—about everything a man could wish for in the way of amusement. And the civil population will come under American authority in its relation to American soldiers. It looks to be a first rate measure for the health and morale of the men.

WE SAT AT THE WINDOW.

We sat at the window looking out,
And the rain came down like silken strings
That Swithin's day. Each gutter and spout
Babbled unchecked in the busy way
Of witless things:
Nothing to read, nothing to see
Seemed in that room for her and me
On Swithin's day.
We were irked by the scene, by our own selves, yes,

For I did not know, nor did she infer
How much there was to read and guess
By her in me, and to see and crown
By me in her.
Wasted were two souls in their prime
And great was the waste, that July time
When the rain came down.

CONSENT.

Oh, it is hard to bear to have him go,
Just when his joy is at its noon,
It would be harder still
To bear if he should be a coward, a poltroon,
And did not want to go.
That burden I should never dare
Disclose, but lock it in my heart; the other
Glorious sorrow I may share
With all the world,
And most of all, with any mother
That into a like sorrow this war has hurled.

He never tells me, but I know
He feels the thrill
Of conflict quickening his soul;
He hears the roll
Of guns innumerable—the flood
Of battle rages 'round him as he stands.
He holds his rifle steady in his hands
Or no—it is a sword. Fiercely he rides
Into the thickest fray; his armor gleams
Dull bronze beneath his purple cloak. The blood
Of a long line of fighting men throbs
In his veins and colors all his dreams.

But I, his mother, come not of a fighting line.
My people prayed for peace,
Endured and suffered all without repine,
So that all wars might cease.
If then I freely let him go
(I swear he shall not hear my woman's sobs),
Shall I renounce my kindred? No,
A peace so sure that war at least shall cease.

Yes, he may go, to meet his country's need.
I send him. God, if it be thy will—
I pray while he is gone, I may not read
Of the fierce fighting there on Dead Man's Hill.

WAR GARDENING.

If it takes six months to train a soldier we are of the opinion it takes about six years to train a war gardener or to be more exact, a war gardener. If soldiering is a science, war gardening is an exact science.

Out in our neighborhood a company owns a lot of land and lets it out to tenants or amateur gardeners for just enough to pay the water bill. The gardens are twenty to fifty feet in size.

Last year our next-door neighbor planted what he thought were beans and got vegetable oysters. Another went in for turnips and got potatoes. A third decided to mix all the seeds and plant them together, so he couldnot possibly lose. He never found out what he did get, for just as his delightful mixture was ready to harvest somebody came along and did his harvesting for him.

This year all these boys know more about gardening than they did last year, but each year brings on a new crop of gardeners.

It might be well to mix veteran gardeners with the amateurs, the same as they mix seasoned campaigners with the green troops over in France.

BLIND CHILD A FIRE HEROINE

From the New York Evening Post.

Rosa Cohen, 9 years old and blind proved herself a heroine a few mornings ago when fire started in the Blind Sunshine Home for Babies in Brooklyn. She saved the lives of sixteen blind children who were asleep on the first floor. Rosa, awakened by the smoke, aroused the other inmates, and trained by fire drills, the children carrying their clothing under their arms, were marched to safety in two minutes.

AT THE THEATRES

MAJESTIC.

Kitty Gordon is the star in "The Purple Lily," showing at the Majestic today and Thursday and tells the unusual story of a beautiful woman, the wife of a simple mountaineer, who longed for excitement and life's thrill and who took advantage of the first opportunity which presented itself to achieve this ambition. It is said to be an exceptional story told in a fascinating manner surrounded by most beautiful out-door scenes and affords a fine entertainment.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT."

Seats for "Turn to the Right," to be seen at the Fuller Opera House, Friday and Saturday nights with a matinee, Saturday, were placed on sale this morning. The play has been well advertised locally by playgoers who saw it during its long runs in New York and Chicago.

In announcing the opening of the advance sale, the theatre management desires to warn patrons against delay. The local engagement is to be played by the Chicago company which played a nine months' engagement at Geo. M. Cohan's Grand Opera House. Principals of the cast are Ralph Morgan, Barry McCormack, William Foran, James H. Huntley, Philip Bishop, Charles W. Goodrich, Samuel Lowenswirth, George Spelvin, Mabel Bert, Ethel Remey, Helen Collier, Dorothy Betts and Maude Fox.

"UPSTAIRS AND DOWN."

Oliver Morosco's production of Frederic and Fanny Hatton's most successful comedy, "Upstairs and Down," which is to come to this city has scored a double success. First, the success of the comedy as a play and second, by the excellent acting given by the cast. The authors are said to have limited their types most skillfully and they have told a really interesting story of the doings at a particularly lively week-end party being held by a wealthy New Yorker and some of his friends. Then they have introduced a character new to the stage, the 'baby vampire,' and she is reported to be a remarkable study.

"Upstairs and Down," comes to the Fuller Theatre for one performance only, tomorrow night.

FULLER—TODAY.

Enid Bennett, the fascinating Australian screen star to be seen at the Fuller Theatre last times today in "The Keys of the Righteous," is one of the most personally popular stars of screendom and boasts a wide assortment of real friends as well as the thousands who know and love her through her screen work.

AT THE MAJESTIC

GRAND

A story that will appeal to men and women of all ages is "The Belgian," Sidney Olcott's stupendous visualization of the tragedy of Belgium, which comes to the Grand theater today and tomorrow.

The story opens in Belgium just before the terrible mailed fist descends upon the peaceful nation and crushes out the life of the country. One of the artistic touches with which the picture abounds is the shadow of a cross showing Belgium crucified and the heel of the enemy about to trample her under foot.

Jeanne Destree and Victor Morenne, portrayed respectively by Valentine Grant and Walker Whiteside, are betrothed, but when a great sculptor discovers Victor and offers to take him to Paris Jeanne offers her little savings to help him defray his expenses so that he, too, may become a great sculptor.

None of the storeotyped methods are resorted to, and the ending of the picture is wonderfully artistic. Suffice to say that the people who viewed "The Belgian" at its trade showing in the Strand Theater, New York, were moved to rise and cheer as the American troops appeared on the screen marching to the aid of Belgium.

Observations of a War Horse by Estelle Lawton Lindsey

The U. S. A. Harbors Too Many "Second Mary Pickfords"

My Dear Niece:

From Bangor, Me., to San Diego, Cal., I do not suppose there is a city of any size that is not harboring in its unsuspecting arms a second Mary Pickford. They storm the citadels of moving picture studios as the Crusaders stormed the walls of ancient Jerusalem, and when they are hurled back by heartless directors they fall into the arms of the City Mother's Bureau and are variously disposed of.

"It is the collective pain in those young breasts that is making me sad," the weary looking publicity man informed me when he had grown warm on the subject of the movie fever. "If you have any influence with the country press of this benighted land I wish you would do what you can to educate parents about the disease."

Willie asked if the fever was spreading.

"Spreading?" repeated the publicity man; "it's SPREAD. It's plastered over the map of these United States like rat poison on a cracker. The east side Maggie Murphys and the beauties of the little southern towns are equally crazy. Oh, Lord, here comes one now. Look there! See that little girl buttonholing the director of the Majolica Studios?"

"She doesn't expect to get in the pictures, does she?" inquired Willie guilelessly.

"Doesn't she?" shot back the publicity man. "You watch her. Why, man, she tormented her mother, who had a good place as trained nurse back in Ohio, until she gave up her work and used all the money she had in the world to bring that girl here and put her in the pictures. They struck our place one morning when I was suffering from the pressure of inward candor denied expression, and I told them the brutal truth. I advised them to go back to Ohio and put the girl in school. That was three months ago. I see that they disregarded my advice.

"Look the girl over. She has pale blue eyes that will be certain to photograph white. She has squirrel teeth and a muddy complexion that will need a quarter of an inch of grease paint before it will photograph decently. And I don't mind telling you in strict confidence that she hasn't enough sense to even play atmosphere, which means standing about in decently acceptable attitudes and keeping your mouth shut and your features in repose."

The girl under discussion had succeeded in getting close enough to the director of the Majolica Studios to engage him in conversation, and we could see that she was refuting something that he had said. Under the strain of excitement her voice rose and her words reached our ears. They were a pitiful index of stupidity:

"But I don't NEED to go to school any more. I want to be a great moving picture actress, and I don't need an education."

"That's it," said the publicity man resignedly. "I hear it every day, and it makes me pray for an open season for parents. A moving picture actress needs nothing so much as she needs a thorough education, a trained mind. We can take an ugly girl and light her so as to make her look pretty. But it's a darned hard job to take a pretty girl and make her act. A few years ago beauty would carry a girl much farther in this profession than it will now. The public is wise to what constitutes good acting. The masses have learned signs and symbols, and they want emotions conveyed to them through some better medium than muscular contortions."

The director of the Majolica had risen and was backing away from the girl. She followed and grabbed the lapels of his coat, her mother looking on at the scene. The director took her hands very gently and looked down on her as if she had been his own little girl. We could hear his deep, well-modulated voice as he spoke to the girl:

"I don't want to hurt you, dear. I want to save you pain. We can't all play the same games in life. I do not know what part you can play, but I know you can never succeed as a moving picture actress. Go home with your mother and forget it."

He disengaged her hands and walked toward our table. The girl broke into violent weeping and was led off by her mother.

"Poor child," said Willie, sympathetically.

"Lucky kid," corrected the publicity man. "Mighty few directors would have been as gentle with her. Generally they are kind but busy, and more familiar with profanity than with Chesterfield. Hello, Richmond; these doctors want some dope about the moving picture business. Sit down and help me out."

The director of the Majolica sat with us and told us many things. In time I shall write you part of what he said.

With lots of love, your cautious auntie, THE WAR-HORSE

Lawsuit Nearly Ruined American League; Johnson To The Rescue

The American league came within an ace of going out of business this spring, at least for a week or so, and all because of the suit brought by Johnny Lavan, the Griffmen's shortstop, and Derrill Pratt, the Yankees' second baseman, against President Phil Ball of the St. Louis club, according to advices from the Mound City, says Louis Dougher in the Washington Times.

The players charged Ball with alleged slander, claiming that he told a St. Louis newspaper man that they "had laid down to the White Sox." Each player promptly entered suit for $50,000.

On learning finally that neither Pratt nor Lavan would withdraw the case, but would insist on a court hearing, Ban Johnson got busy. He hustled down to St. Louis from Chicago and conferred with Phil Ball. He found the Browns' boss inclined to be stubborn.

At first efforts were made to bulldoze the players, hoping that they would surrender, but both Pratt and Lavan stuck to their guns. They had a clever attorney, whose plan was simple. He intended to summon practically every player in the American league to testify to the character of Pratt and Lavan as baseball players. And right there Ban Johnson is said to have seen the light.

Would Disrupt Affairs

Bringing the stars of the American league to St. Louis in April, with the schedule under way, would disrupt affairs almost beyond repair. It was feared that the fans, who cared little or nothing about the merits of the case, would take considerable interest, if their own teams were riddled for a week or so. It was too great a risk for the American league.

Again Ban Johnson got busy, as he alone can when it comes to protecting his organization. He got into immediate communication with Miller Huggins, the Yankees' manager, and Clark Griffith, the Washington leader, urging them to use their good influences with the players.

Compromise Arranged

As a result of this action by Ban Johnson, both Pratt and Lavan were induced to accept a compromise.

Recently the announcement came from St. Louis that the case has been dropped, each complainant receiving $2,700.

Phil Ball is quoted as saying: "It didn't cost me anything, so I should worry."

The inference is strong that the American league, rather than face the possibilities of a disrupted schedule, paid Pratt and Lavan, and charged it up to profit and loss.

DRIVER, DRIVER, SPARE THAT HEN

ALBANY—The 16,000 or more members of the 119 automobile clubs composing the New York State Automobile association have taken a pledge to aid Mr. Hoover in his food conservation program by firmly resisting hereafter the temptation to run down chickens along the road. Hereafter these 16,000 patriots will plough their way carefully through every flock of poultry they encounter, and where necessary they will even stop and argue with the obstinate ones.

According to Homer Webb, one time president of the Medina Automobile club, the slaughter of poultry by automobilists in the state of New York alone has deprived the market of approximately 2,000,000 pounds of food yearly.

The United States food administration charges that careless automobilists killed more poultry on the highways of Pennsylvania than all black winged birds put together.

Never Won a Major League Pennant But Lajoie Goes Strong in the Minors

Larry Lajoie.

Now that Larry Lajoie is up to his athletic neck in the management of the Indianapolis team of the American Association it is being freely predicted that he will bring home a pennant winner.

The great veteran has proved himself a surprisingly capable minor league manager. His record is 1,000. Last year he took hold of the Toronto team of the International league and brought it home in the lead with room to spare. Besides, he led the league's hitters himself, having a mark of .380.

Indianapolis won a pennant last year under Jack Hendricks and everything indicates that Lajoie duplicating the Hendricks achievement and winning his second straight minor league title.

Winning a pennant was something Larry could never do as manager of the Cleveland club in the American league. Playing on a pennant winning team in the majors was another thing he could not do. Undeniably one of the greatest players of all time, Larry was never fortunate enough to get into a single world's series.

His nearest approach to blue ribbon fame was in 1908, when he managed the Clevelands. That year the Forest City team, Detroit and the White Sox fought such a finish that the championship wasn't decided until the very last day. The sad part of the affair from a Cleveland standpoint was that Lajoie that year, when his services were so badly needed, had the worst season of his big league career. Larry played in every game, but he batted only .289, and fielded below his standard. Only one other time in his life did the big Frenchman fail to rap .300 or better—this was in 1907 when he fell one point shy of the coveted mark.

Larry was a big league favorite for twenty-one years. His grand batting average for big league play was .338. Only one other player known to baseball ever did better. Cap Anson's life time mark was one point higher. Only one player now identified with the game stands a chance to equal Larry's mark. Ty Cobb must maintain his present stride through a period of eight years yet before his batting can be compared with that of the former cab driver.

Coach Jones Puts Finishing Touches On Wisconsin Track For Dual Meet With Gophers

"We Can Win"

"Big John" Richards Makes That Prediction After Watching Grid Squad.

"We can win," said Coach John Richards of the university football team, after looking over the football prospects at Camp Randall for the first time Tuesday afternoon. The head coach believes that if the material that is at his disposal next fall is as good as that which is now at work at camp, Wisconsin will have an excellent chance of copping the Conference football championship next fall. What the coach has set out to find, as the one missing link in his chances for a victory is a quarterback of Big Ten calibre, and if he can find someone to fill Simpson's shoes, he is satisfied that Wisconsin will have a good team.

ROUNDY'S CORNER

Mike Gibbons, middleweight champ, is through with the fighting game, he says. We did not know he was fighting. His ring battles of any importance you could write on a stamp.

If the St. Louis Americans lose any more games they will have to play Purdue for the cellar championship of the world.

After seeing Leo Crowley bowl his singles with Charley O'Neill of the K. C. league last night, Charley must have picked his partner out of a grab bag.

Bill Munsell tried hard to land first place in the doubles. But he surely looks at home at that old stamp window.

Milwaukee Brewers make five straight wins in a row. They should add Sun Prairie and Edgerton on that circuit.

Corky, Jack Abaly's houseman, is going to work for the new detective agency that will open here.

Bowie Sweeney has returned to work after being in Milwaukee last week. They say he was laid up with a stiff neck from looking up at the high buildings.

After watching Bob Zwerg handle a plow in his garden we can say that horse power has nothing on man power when he gets going.

Madison is going to have a merry-go-round this summer on Blount street. The merry-go-round in this neck of the woods is the West Main street car line.

First Outdoor Conference Competition for Local Squad Will Test Strength

Badger track men, coming from behind after a year of unprecedented hard luck, are preparing to meet the Gophers at Minneapolis, Saturday, in the first outdoor conference meet of 1918.

Coach Jones, with early hopes of making an excellent showing in all big track meets, the Illinois, Drake and Penn relays, has met with one disappointment after the other.

Golden, Dayton, Elsom, and Crump were expected to carry away first honors in the 4-mile relay at Urbana, March 2, but Dayton entered the aviation service, and the crippled Badgers had to be content with third place.

In the Indoor Conference meet at Evanston, Jones discovered a 2-mile wonder in Dennis. Two weeks later, when the happy coach was figuring on sweeping the records at the Drake relays, he found that Dennis was ineligible for conference competition because this is his first year of residence at the university.

Hopes for the Penn relays were still glimmering until Demmer Golden, Jones' right-hand man in the distance events, caught scarlet fever.

Golden is now recovering from his illness and may journey to Minneapolis with the team on Friday, though this is still doubtful. Crump, Elsom, and Meyers are the Badger's mainstays in the mile and two-mile events for the coming meet. Crump will run both, seconded by Elsom in the mile and Meyers in the two-mile. Elsom will probably be entered in the half-mile, also.

In the middle distances, the half and the quarter, the Badgers' hopes rest in Nash, Ramsey, Wolfers, and Urech, the two former in the half, the latter two in the quarter.

Maleckar is Jones' standby in the dashes. With Urech he will take care of the century and the 220. Urech negotiated the 100 in 10 flat Tuesday afternoon. Bower, Karger, Ray, and McCandless are other dashmen, who may be used.

Captain Heintzen, Andrews, and Spafford are sure point-getters in the high and low hurdles. Andrews and Spafford will also be entered in the pole vault where they are making around 10 feet after only a few weeks' practice.

Weight events, the shot, hammer, javelin, and discus, will be taken care of by Mueller, Gallun, Hansen, and Herzfeld, two of whom will make the trip Saturday. Andrews, Hanson, and Maisel are the best men in the broad jump, while Williams, Wilson, Gill, and Edwards are the most promising high jumpers.

The hand-grenade team will be composed of Spafford, Williams, Hanson, and one other. Coach Jones is laying considerable stress on this new event which the war had added to track sports.

Minnesota swamped the Cornhuskers a week ago, and the Badgers have a victory over Ripon to their credit.

The Gophers are strong in the weights with George Hauser, Schroeder, and Davis. Louis Hauser has been doing the mile around 4:39, and is entered in the half besides. McNally will second Hauser's efforts in the half and run the 440 in addition. Stevens, who took second in the open 440 at Kansas City, is another strong entry.

Holt has done the 100-yard dash in 10; 1-5 seconds, and Wong is pole-vaulting around 11 feet. The Bierman brothers, George and Harlow, in the dashes, jumps, and high hurdles, Hauft and Skellet in the two-mile, and Gillen in the jumps are other men whom Minnesota are depending on for points.

Every year some bright young man announces that the team with which he is connected isn't going to use the hit and run play any more—the old ham-and-eggs, as the boys in the small leagues used to refer to the play. One would be led to suspect that the play is of recent origin; a fad taken up last season, tried a couple of months and dropped as impracticable. The hit and run is one of the oldest strategems known to modern baseball, and modern baseball dates back twenty years and more. I don't know of any team which employed the play as a regular thing. The Detroit Tigers are supposed to have used it more often than any other team in the American league. But if figures were available it would probably be shown that all the clubs use the play with more or less frequency.

Of course teams with clever "place hitters," like Washington with Third Baseman Foster, for instance, and the Tigers with Veach, Cobb and Bush, run less risk in using the play, and naturally employ it more often than others. But just as no team has ever used the play as a steady diet, nor will there be any organization of smart players that will forsake it entirely. Its primary virtue lies in its unexpectedness. It is one of the prettiest plays in the game. To eliminate it entirely from a team's offensive scheme would be to rob that team of color and variety, qualities essential not only to success on the diamond, but at the box office as well. Our private hunch is that the hit and run will be with us as long as the game itself exists.

IS NO TIME FOR APOLOGY SAYS C. P. CARY

War Was Unavoidable and Reason Will Show This the Fact

RAPS MILITARISM

Says Prussian War Lords Have Gone Mad—Full Aid is Needed

In a ringing statement published in the Educational News Bulletin that is sent to every teacher in the state, State Superintendent C. P. Cary declares that "Prussian militarism has gone mad."

"It has been forced on the attention of the writer," says C. P. Cary, "from time to time that there are some men, some who should be leaders, who are saying in an apologetic way that now since we are in the war we must see it through. One is impressed with the idea that if these persons were to express themselves fully it would run like this: "I never was in favor of the war; there would not have been any war if I had been in charge of things, but we are now in it and we cannot help ourselves; we must fight or be ignominously licked."

Lacks Wholesome Note.

"Such patriotism lacks the ringing note of whole-heartedness; it is apologetic and weak-kneed. A man or woman of mature judgment who cannot see that this war was for us unavoidable, is letting his emotions or his sympathies rule him instead of his reason. This nation had to go to war, if it was to preserve its self-respect among the nations; not to go to war in view of the circumstances would have caused every true American to hang his head in shame. Not only is this nation fighting to preserve its rights on the high seas, but it is also fighting—and this should never be forgotten—the battle for the rights of small nations to an independent existence and for the perpetuity of free democratic institutions. We are indeed fighting for the very existence of our own country as a free and independent nation. It is necessary, a righteous war.

Has Gone Mad.

Prussian militarism has gone mad, and it is now plain to every thinking man and woman, no matter what his nationality, that liberty-loving nations the world over must fight for liberty or failing in this, autocracy will for generations to come rule the world. Let us have an end to this milk-and-water support of our government in this hour when we are put to the supreme test. We are not in this war for conquest of territory or for any other sordid motive. We are in it for the preservation of human rights as against militarism. Those who are not for us are against us; we have no apologies to offer."

EMPEROR HAPPY OVER PEACE ON EASTERN FRONT

Thanks Von Hertling and the People for Aid in Struggle for Future

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, via Amsterdam—Emperor William replied to Chancellor von Hertling's congratulations on the conclusion of peace between Germany and Rumania with this message:

"The termination of the state of war in the east fills me also with proud joy and gratitude. Thanks to God's gracious help, the German people with never failing patriotism, under brilliant military leadership and with the assistance of strong diplomacy, are fighting step by step for a happy future.

"I cannot but convey my thanks on this occasion to you and also to your collaborators. God will help us to pass through the struggle which the hostile attitude of the powers, still under arms aganist us, has forced up to continue and to conclude it victoriously for the good of Germany and her allies."

Emperor William, in a telegram to Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German secretary for foreign affairs, said:

"The conclusion of peace with Rumania gives me an opportunity of expressing my joyful satisfaction that peace has now been given to the entire eastern front.

"May rich blessings descend on the peoples concerned from the resumption of peaceful labor to which they can now devote themselves.

"I thank you and your collaborators for the work done in loyal co-operation with our allies and I confer on you as a sign of my appreciation the order of the Royal Crown of the first class.'

Chancellor von Hertling's telegram to the emperor read:

"With the conclusion of peace with Rumania the state of war on the entire eastern front has been terminated. Under Your Majesty's firm and sacred leadership and the devoted readiness and self-sacrifice of the entire German nation, especially its defensive forced commanded by their glorious generals, a success has been gained in the world historical, the greatness of which can only be appreciated to its full extent by the coming generation.

"On this occasion I ask Your Majesty graciously to accept my most respectful congratulations. They are characterized by feelings of great gratitude for that which has been achieved by the grace of God and by the unshaken confidence that on all other battlefields the war will end in victory for our just cause."

CHEESE RATES UP BEFORE RATE BOARD

Railroads Ask an Increase of From 25 to 40 Percent on Shipments

The railroad commission today took up its hearing on cheese rates. On Monday a hearing was given on the rates for shipments of butter and eggs. All the railway companies have joined into a complaint asking for increase of these rates. The present localities effected by this proposed rule are Monroe and Sheboygan counties. If the change is made, the rates on cheese will be increased from 25 to 40 per cent. Traffic bureaus are here representing cheese organizations in opposition to any change.

ALLIES PREPARE FOR ENEMY ATTACK

Strengthen Positions All Along Line in Northern France, Says British Mission

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The allied forces are strengthening their positions all along the line in northern France, said a statement today by the British military mission.

"Were it not practically certain that another great attack will be delivered by the Germans in the very near future one might be misled by the number of small operations and successful raids, into thinking that the situation had settled down into the old stationary trench warfare phase again," said the statement. "The enemy is experiencing great difficulty with his transportation and communication service. In addition to our harassing fire, heavy rain has fallen in Flanders and the German are now realizing in the old Ypres salient what Flanders mud really is."

ANARCHY RIPE IN UKRAINE

German Action in Replacing Government Causes Riots and Outbreaks

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON — Anarchy is spreading throughout the Ukraine as a result of the German action in replacing the government, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. There have been riots at several places and during a serious outbreak in Kiev a large number of persons were killed. An attempt was made to kill the Ukrainian premier who escaped with slight wounds.

The socialist Vorwaerts, of Berlin, the dispatch adds, publishes an official Ukrainian statement regarding events in Kiev on April 26. German soldiers entered the Rada at four o'clock in the afternoon, surrounded the members and shouted "hands up!" The president of the Rada, who protested, was thrown to the ground and other members were ill-treated.

The German ambassador declared that the arrest of members of the government had taken place without his knowledge.

GIVE NAMES OF MEN LOST ON TYLER

Five Were Members of Armed Guard on Ship

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The loss of the American steamer Tyler, sunk by a submarine, was reported to the navy department today by Vice Admiral Sims. The dispatch said eleven men were lost and that the survivors were landed at a French port.

Five of those lost were members of the armed guard. They were Leo Martin Carey, Albert Lea, Minn.; Arthur Edward Johnson, Woonsocket, R. I.; Henry Christian Mihalik, New Orleans, La.; Jesse Clifford Sampson, Fletcher, Okla., and Howard Risher Smith, Pittsburg, Pa.

Your neighbor's herd may be tubercular, or affected with abortion. Yours may be healthy. Why bring onto your farm from the cheese factory the unheated whey which may serve to introduce either of these diseases? The present law requires the scalding of the whey before it is returned to the farms. Such treatment removes all danger from this source. It will be to your advantage and it is your duty to see that the scalding is done in a thorough manner.—F. G. Hastings.

AND NOW COME THE WETS WITH DEMURRERS

File Documents Declaring Drys Have No Cause for Action

Attorney Ralph W. Jackman made the latest move in the wet and dry contest when he appeared in circuit court on Wednesday and filed two demurrers to the complaints filed by the dry faction against A. M. Peltier and County Clerk Fjelstadt. In the demurrers, Attorney Jackman contends that the dry faction represented by Attorney Gilbert have no cause for action.

Attorney Jackman also made a motion to have the court vacate the temporary injunction restraining the mayor and the holdover aldermen from canvassing the ballots, he maintaining that they are the properly constituted board of canvassers.

After receiving the demurrers and the motion for the vacating of the injunction, Judge E. Ray Stevens set Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock as the time for the hearing.

The hearing on the motion of City Attorney William Ryan to have the temporary injunction vacated, which had been set for Friday afternoon, was also ordered heard on Friday morning, the court deciding to hear all motions at one time.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO—Government figures showing that the commercial stocks of corn are much larger than a year ago had a decidedly bearish effect today on corn values. The fact that the weather continued auspicious for farm work and pastures tended also to weaken prices. There was general selling and only limited support. Opening quotations, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to 1c lower, with May 1.27⅜ and July 1.45¼, were followed by a material further setback.

Oats declined under liquidation on a heavy scale by holders. The trade seemed to be much impressed by absence of seaboard demand and by the fine crop outlook. After opening ⅛c to ⅝c down, with July 68⅝ to 66⅝, the market continued to sag.

HOE FARMER IS DISPLACED BY MACHINES

High School Education a Necessity for Boy on Farm

VIEW OF GALPIN

University Man Says a Profound Change Has Taken Place

"The hoe farmer is being displaced by the machine farmer. The machine-type of farmer makes it easy for the farmer to become a social being. A high school education is becoming a farm necessity. Only one-eighth of the area of Wisconsin is now included in the high school districts."

These are statements taken from a report made by C. J. Galpin of the University of Wisconsin on "Rural Relations of High Schools." The report will be issued by the Wisconsin experiment association.

Use Their Head.

"The rising value of head-work on American farms opens up a new market in the country for the wares of the high school," says Mr. Galpin. "The hand farmer, the man with the hoe, is being gradually replaced by the machine farmer; and the great muscles of the land worker are slowly getting smaller while the higher brain centers of the farm engineer are coming into use. High Schools that first perceive this change in country life and adapt their methods to the new country community will first enter into the benefits of this opening intellectual market.

"Agriculture is taking its place in the industrial world at the side of the other great industries for the reason that government has stepped in and given farming the beginnings of a staff and line of officers to carry out these plans, or just as our great industrial corporations have a group of experimenters, thinkers and industrial statesmen as a staff of advisers and a line of organized labor to put their thoughts into effect, so the government, in its experiment stations, has organized its staff of agricultural experimenters and scientists and through its farm bureaus and county agricultural agents started the machinery of line organization in every state to bring uniformity of planning to bear upon all farms, so as to make each farm an efficient industrial unit.

Farming by Power.

"A profound change in the mental and social characteristics of farmers is certain to be the result of this organized agriculture. With the departure of the hoe and ox and with the coming of gas and electric power upon the farm, the land-worker has reduced his heavy, slow lifting and tugging, and has begun to use finer muscles and a new net-work of nerves along with new areas of the brain. Machine thinking is bound to follow machine farming, and a certain type of artless simplicity, associated from the earliest time with farm life, will begin to disappear."

BISBEE DEPORTING VIOLATED LAW

Investigators Hold Forcing Out 1,186 Workers Was Unlawful

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Investigation by the department of justice of the deportation of 1,186 copper mine workers from Bisbee and the Warren district of Arizona last July has developed apparent violations of the law, it was disclosed today and Assistant Attorney General William C. Fitts and Oliver E. Pagan, special attorney for indictment cases, have gone to Tuscon, Ariz., where a United States grand jury is in session.

The investigators reported that in their opinion a number of the citizens of Bisbee and other towns responsible for the forced deportations violated federal laws forbidding conspiracy to deprive citizens of their constitutional rights. The penalty provided by law is a fine of not more than $5,000 and imprisonment not more than 10 years.

ALLIS ASSOCIATION DOES GOOD WORK

Furnishes New School and Provides Comforts for Soldiers

Winter storms, spring showers, and the inconvenience of distance have not kept members of the Allis Parent-Teacher association from doing their bit in fitting up the Allis school with a piano and playthings, and making their soldier boys all the comforts needed in the army camps.

Since last fall the association has met at the school the first Friday in each month. A number of quilts and spreads were made and sold to friends living in Madison. One spread which was made during the winter sold for $100. The first money earned in this way was spent for a piano for the new school.

During the winter a small part of the money which was realized from the sales was used to purchase yarn and each member knitted an entire outfit, including sweater, wristlets, helmet, scarf, and socks, for each of the young men from the neighborhood who had joined the army.

The money which the association will receive from the next few sales will be donated to the local Red Cross.

MOVE TO EXTEND LAKE DRIVE

Condemnation Proceedings Are Started in Court

Condemnation proceedings for the extension of Lakeland avenue into Schiller court, Fair Oaks, were instituted by City Attorney William Ryan before County Judge Zimmerman. The opening of the street is necessary to the Park and Pleasure Drive's association's plan of a continuous lakeshore drive on Lake Monona. Building operations have been started, so the city decided to acquire the property before a house went up. It will be necessary to secure one lot fronting on Schiller court. An agreement as to price is expected at the meeting on next Tuesday.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. A. Tyner who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. G. C. Riley, 1214 Oakridge avenue for the past two months will return to her home in Rockville, Ind., the end of next week. Miss Mable Tyner will remain in Madison until the first of July.

The Progressive Home-makers club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Friddle. The evening was spent in sewing for the Red Cross.
